Brazil Officers Accept Goulart as Figurehead

RIO DE JANEIRO, Brazil (AP) — Brazil's three military ministers today agreed to accept Joao Goulart as a figurehead president with a prime minister to be appointed by Congress until 1963, a government source said.

By EDWARD T. BUTLER
RIO DE JANEIRO (AP) — Brazil's presidential crisis deepened today as the nation's three military chiefs turned down a congressional plan to make leftist Vice President Joao Goulart a figurehead president.

Although the heads of the army, navy and air force were united in their opposition to Goulart at least one army commander was reported defiantly supporting Goulart.

The leader of the anti-Goulart movement, War Minister Odilio Denys, flew to Rio from his Brasilia headquarters Tuesday night following reports that the 3rd Army commander in southern Brazil had pledged support to the vice president.

Word of the army split was relayed to the Chamber of Deputies by one of Goulart's chief supporters in Congress, Labor Party Deputy Doutor de Andrade. He said an emissary from the 3rd Army commander, Gen. Jose Machado Lopes, told Denys that Machado Lopes would not take orders from the war minister, but "only from President Joao Goulart."

Goulart, en route home from a visit to Communist China when President Janio Quadros resigned last week, was still in Paris waiting to see what Congress would do and how the situation would develop.

De Andrade told the chamber that Goulart would fly to Montevideo, Uruguay, then go to the southern Brazilian state of Rio Grande do Sul, his home stronghold where the 3rd Army is based. The governor of the state, Leonel Brizola, has already pledged support to Goulart, who is his brother-in-law.

Denys' sudden flight to Rio appeared to confirm that Machado Lopes was backing Goulart. But the 3rd Army chief of staff, Gen. Antonio Carlos da Silva Murici, denied a report by a radio station in southern Brazil that Machado Lopes had telegraphed the commanders of the 1st, 2nd and 4th armies declaring "the only alternative to solve the present crisis is to support" Goulart.

Denys was pledged full support by the commander of the 1st Army, probably Brazil's strongest military force, which has its headquarters in Rio. Its commander, Gen. Nesor Souto de Oliveira, sent him a message that his forces were "ready to receive and fulfill without vacillations and without loss of time any order of your excellency as the chief of the army."

Congress scheduled a joint session in Brasilia to debate a 16-member parliamentary commission's recommendation that the constitution be amended to make the presidency a chiefly ceremonial post. The governing power would be put in the hands of a prime minister chosen by Congress.

The commission approved the plan 10-3 — with three members not voting — despite its previous rejection by the military chiefs. Some congressional sources thought Congress might pigeonhole the proposal under pressure from Denys, who wants a constitutional change that will bar the leftist Goulart from the presidency.

American Car Released After Tanks Come Up

By GEORGE BOULTWOOD

BERLIN (AP) — A U.S. Army sedan that had been halted under the guns of Communist police came out of East Berlin today after three American tanks and four armored personnel carriers rushed to the city's Iron Curtain border.

An American officer signaled the U.S. armor into position only 10 yards from the Friedrichstrasse crossing point after word of the car's plight was brought in by a Western bus driver. Tank guns were trained on green-uniformed Communist police guarding the barricades.

French officers reported that the American sedan had been held about 600 yards from the crossing point under the guns of two Soviet-built armored cars manned by East German police.

The sedan was driven by a soldier in uniform and had three passengers, also in uniform. The senior occupant gave his name as Capt. Wirth. He declined to identify himself in more detail. He said he had to report to his commander.

The right front window of the car was cracked. Occupants said it "was hit by something, but not a bullet."

The incident came a few hours after another Communist shooting. An East German swam to freedom across the Teltow Canal under a hail of bullets from Red border guards. He climbed out on the West bank of the canal unhurt.

Completion of Jury in Youth's Trial

MARION, Ark. (AP) — The last three jurors were expected to be selected today as the first degree murder trial of 15-year-old Gurvis Basil (Buddy) Nichols went into its third day.

Nichols, an orphan, is charged in the deaths of two younger playmates at West Memphis last Sept. 9.

Forty-seven prospective jurors were questioned Tuesday but only five seated. Five others were selected Monday, but one was later excused.

The state is asking the death penalty for Nichols, quoted by officers as saying he wanted to die but was afraid to take his own life. The officers said Nichols told them he thought that if he killed Douglas Naylor, 9, and James Wallace Melton, 11, he would be sent to the electric chair.

Nichols' court-appointed attorneys entered a plea of innocent and indicated they would base their defense on a contention the teen-ager was mentally deranged and unable to control his actions at the time of the shootings.

Only defense witness subpoenaed so far is a private psychiatrist who examined the youth.

Doctors at the State Hospital who gave Nichols a mental examination held that he was sane. Circuit Judge Charles Light said any one of four sentences would be possible if Nichols were found guilty. A first degree murder conviction would carry the death penalty or life imprisonment. Conviction of second degree murder carries a one to 21-year sentence, a voluntary manslaughter conviction would carry a sentence of up to seven years and conviction of involuntary manslaughter carries a maximum sentence of three years.

Ira Brooks Heads ASC Committee

Ira Brooks of Blevins has been elected to serve as chairman of the Hempstead ASC County Committee for the next year starting Sept. 1. Other members of the committee elected at the convention at the ASC County Office last week are Claude Self of Rt. 4, Hope, vice chairman and W. J. Schooley of Route 3 Hope, regular member. In addition, H. B. Gilbert of Rt. 1 Washington and Moss Rowe of Washington were named as first and second alternates to serve in the absence of the regular members.

Under the former-committee system of administration of the ASC programs, the ASC county committee, with the assistance of the 36 ASC community committees, is charged with the responsibility of administering all action-type farm programs in the county for which ASC has responsibility.

The operating functions of the program are carried out by the county office personnel who are directed by Cecil Guthrie, County office manager, who is supervised by the ASC county committee.

Mr. Brooks owns and operates a 114 acre farm near Blevins and produces cotton, corn and livestock. He is a member of the Farm Bureau and is active in many community activities. Next year will be the first year for Mr. Brooks on the County Committee.

Mr. Self owns and operates a 330 acre farm about 2 miles west of Hope on Old 67. He produces livestock, hay and grain crops. He is also a member of the Farm Bureau and is active in other community affairs. Mr. Self has not served on the committee prior to this year.

Mr. Schooley owns and operates a 472 acre farm about 5 miles north of Hope on Highway 29. He is a general farmer and produces soybeans, cotton, hay and livestock. He is a member of Farm Bureau and is an active civic leader. He has served 3 years on the committee prior to this year.

Mr. Gilbert owns and operates a 1085 acre farm at Cross Roads and is active in Community and Civic affairs. He is primarily engaged in the production of hay, improved pastures and livestock. He has 375 acres in the Conservation Reserve Program. He has served 5 years on the County Committee and was chairman for the past two years.

Mr. Rowe owns and operates a 320 acre farm near Ozan on Highway 4 and has served 3 years on the committee prior to this year. He produces cotton, corn, hay and livestock and is active in all community affairs. He is also a member of the Farm Bureau.

Revision of Constitution Proposed

PINE BLUFF, Ark. (AP) — The present Arkansas Constitution does not provide enough safeguards against political skulduggery, Independence County Rep. Virgil J. Butler said Tuesday.

Butler told the Pine Bluff Rotary Club that a new constitution is needed. It would not necessarily be a cure-all he said, but it would reach from "center to circumference" of the state's political problems.

"I confess," he said, "that no laws—constitutional or statutory—can convert the demagogue or the crook into an honest and honorable official."

Butler spoke of what he said was "reckless behavior" on the part of some elected officials under the present constitution.

County judges, he said, can do as they please. "They can enter into a conspiracy. They can even pay the same claim twice or more. They can prime a little bit from a claim or they can pad it a bit, depending on their frame of mind," Butler said.

Admistration's Bill to Aid Schools Beaten by Southerners, GOP

WASHINGTON (AP) — A powerful coalition of Republicans and Southern Democrats today voted to prevent House consideration of the administration's federal aid to education bill.

The move, which came quickly after the House met at noon, apparently ended chances of getting through at this session the principle the administration badly wanted to establish—federal money for the construction of public school facilities.

Two other parts of the package, aid to schools overcrowded by children of federal workers, and extension of a student loan program, are likely to be salvaged and passed later. Many members, both Republican and Democratic, favor these programs while bitterly opposing public school construction.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House Education Committee today approved the administration's compromise school aid bills with one change aimed at minimizing the religious issue.

Chairman Adam Clayton Powell, D-N.Y., predicted the key bill, which includes federal money for construction of public schools, will pass "with very minor changes."

But Rep. Peter Frelinghuysen, R-N.J., speaking for "committed" Republicans, said he had never seen "such abuse of the legislative process."

He called it "basically unwise legislation" and said it was "rammed down our throats. I consider it headed for the graveyard where it belongs."

The committee vote on the bill was 16 Democrats for and 12 Republicans against, with three Democrats abstaining. The 10 votes were a bare majority needed to get the bill out of committee.

The vote clears the way for the bill to be brought to the floor under the complicated and rarely used "Calendar Wednesday" procedure. The procedure bypasses the Rules Committee, where the original Kennedy school program came to a dead end.

The compromise package is contained in two bills.

The first bill is the one all the shouting is about, and the $235 million is the most controversial, million public school construction.

The amendment approved by the committee today would change the basis for allocating money to the states. Previously it was based on average daily attendance of public school children. Now it is based on the total population of the state.

Rep. Frank Thompson, D-N.J., who sponsored the amendment and the bill itself, said the change was designed to answer arguments of Roman Catholics.

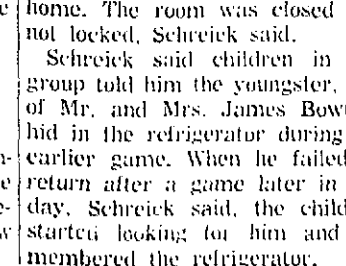

If the base is public school attendance, Thompson said, Catholics object "You don't count our kids but you tax us." If the total school population, including parochial schools, is used, he said, they object "You count our kids but you don't allocate any money to our (parochial) schools."

He said that basing the program on total state population "eliminates these arguments."

1st Round Vote Favors Rights Commission

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate leaders won a preliminary test today in a move to extend the life of the Civil Rights Commission. The Senate voted to suspend its rules so the extender could be considered.

The roll call vote suspending the rule was 7 to 21, more than the two-thirds majority required.

The rules suspension was a necessary preliminary to a move to hook the extension onto a $761 million appropriation bill for the State and Justice departments. The rules ban such riders on an appropriation bill.

The rider calls for a two-year extension of the Civil Rights Commission beyond Nov. 9.

The extender now can be attached to the appropriation bill by majority vote, but Sen. Joseph S. Clark, D-Pa., and others first planned to put up a fight to continue the commission indefinitely.

Attempts also may be made to hook other civil rights measures onto the appropriation bill.

The move, opposed by Southern foes of the commission, was jointly sponsored by Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield of Montana and Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois.

Mansfield served notice he would move to table and thus kill attempts to suspend the rules for consideration of other civil rights measures bitterly opposed by Southern senators.

A tabling motion is not debatable and thus can force an issue to a quick vote.

The Kennedy administration has not asked Congress for civil rights legislation at this session other than an extension of the commission, which will expire Nov. 9.

The commission was created in 1957 to investigate violations of civil rights, particularly denials of voting rights, and was extended for two years in 1959 by a rider to an appropriation bill.

Berryville Okays Bonds for Plant

BERRYVILLE, Ark. (AP) — Two construction bond issues totaling $147,500 for construction of a garment factory here were approved by an overwhelming vote Tuesday, a $77,500 issue was approved 367-31 and a $70,000 issue was passed 369-20. Proceeds will be used to build a plant for Glick Manufacturing Co., which is now operating in temporary quarters here. The bonds will be retired under a lease agreement.

Youth Dies in Osceola Icebox

OSCEOLA, Ark. (AP) — An investigation continued today into the suffocation of 7-year-old Jimmy Bowers, whose body was found in an unused refrigerator where he apparently hid during a game of hide and seek.

Police Chief Lee Schreck said the body was discovered late Tuesday, sometime after the boy failed to return to the group of children with whom he was playing.

One of the children, looking for young Bowers, found the body. Schreck said.

The officer said the refrigerator was stored in a utility room at a tourist court near the victim's home. The room was closed but not locked, Schreck said.

Schreck said children in the group told him the youngster, son of Mr. and Mrs. James Bowers, hid in the refrigerator during an earlier game. When he failed to return after a game later in the day, Schreck said, the children started looking for him and remembered the refrigerator.

Two Accidents Investigated

Two accident were investigated by City Police here yesterday, both causing minor damage.

At 6:30 p.m. a truck driven by David Moore and an auto driven by Bobby Campbell, McCaskill, collided on North Elm and Avenue D. The front of the Moore vehicle was damaged and the right rear of the Campbell car was smashed. Officers Rowe and Moses reported.

At 8 last night an auto driven by William Thomas ran into the rear of another driven by Ruel White. The accident occurred at Third and Main. Fender and bumper and headlight damage resulted to both cars. Officers Rowe and Willis charged Thomas with following too close.

Adenauer and Kennedy in Agreement

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Kennedy and West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer were reported in complete agreement today on the need for effective measures to counter any future Communist violations of East-West understanding on Berlin.

West German Ambassador Wilhelm Grewe delivered to Kennedy a letter from Adenauer.

After delivering the message to Kennedy, Grewe discounted any idea that further Western setbacks in the Berlin situation might put West Germany in a neutralist mood.

In advance of Grewe's White House visit, diplomatic sources said U.S. Ambassador Llewellyn Thompson may seek an appointment in Moscow early next week to try to learn Soviet views about Berlin negotiations.

Alford Named to Committee

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. Dale Alford, D-Ark., and Rep. Arch A. Moore, R-W.Va., were added today to the membership of a House Small Business subcommittee named to investigate the effects of the government's mandatory controls on oil imports.

The additions, announced by Chairman Wright Patman, D-Tex., of the full committee, gave the subcommittee seven members. The subcommittee is headed by Rep. Tom Steed, D-Okla.

Patman said in a statement the scope of the investigation is "developing and enlarging tremendously with many new phases and points of interest manifesting themselves," and a larger subcommittee is necessary.

The subcommittee staff has been collecting detailed information from the industry on production of oil and gas, number of wells shut in for lack of markets, number of employees, refinery runs and so on.

3-Story Leap Proves Futile

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—The FBI said today that a Mississippi County jail escapee leaped from a third story window at Chicago in a futile effort to avoid arresting agents.

Willie Gene Daniels cried, "You can't fool the FBI" after he was finally subdued, reported J. J. Casper, agent in charge of the Little Rock FBI office.

Casper said Daniels was arrested in Chicago today on a federal charge of unlawful flight to avoid prosecution for burglary. He leaped from the window when officers entered the room in Chicago, Casper said.

Daniels was held on burglary and grand larceny charge, when he fled from the Mississippi County jail early July 16, Casper said. Casper said some money, a deputy sheriff's badge and a pistol were taken during the escape.

Daniels was taken to Cook County Hospital in Chicago. The extent of his injuries was not known. He will be given a hearing before a U.S. commissioner on the flight charge.

U.S. Envoy Seeks Talk With Mr. K

By LEWIS GULICK

WASHINGTON (AP)—U.S. Ambassador Llewellyn E. Thompson may seek an appointment in Moscow early next week in an effort to learn Soviet views about Berlin negotiations, diplomatic sources said today.

The aim is to get the latest line on the Kremlin approach to East-West talks before the Western Big Four foreign ministers hold their next strategy session on Berlin.

President Kennedy arranged a noontime White House date for West German Ambassador Wilhelm Grewe, Grewe arrived from Bonn Tuesday night bearing a letter from Chancellor Konrad Adenauer.

Informants said a Thompson meeting with Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko in Moscow soon is under active consideration as a means of providing the Western foreign ministers meeting with whatever information the Soviets wish to supply.

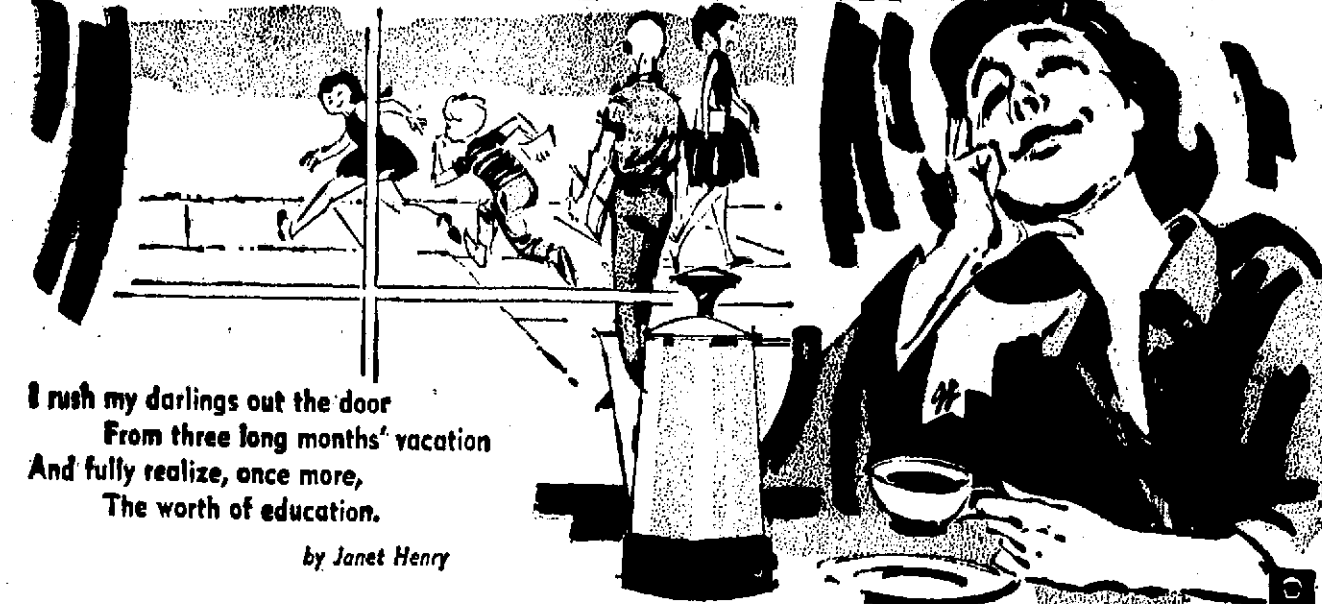

The ambassador is vacationing in West Germany but is due back in Moscow this weekend. Tentative plans for a meeting of the foreign ministers of the United States, Britain, France and West Germany in advance of the September 19 opening of the U.N. General Assembly fall session were announced at the State Department Tuesday.

The expected site of the parley is Washington and the expected date a few days before the United Nations convenes. New York was listed as a possible alternative site, but is less likely than Washington because French Foreign Minister Maurice Couve de Murville has not indicated he plans to attend the U.N. opening and West Germany is not a U.N. member.

If Gromyko shows up for the U.N. opening, Secretary of State Dean Rusk and British Foreign Secretary Lord Home are expected to meet with him informally to see whether formal East-West negotiations on Berlin would be productive.

U.S. authorities said the Western powers are agreed that bilateral side talks with Gromyko will not include any substantive negotiation on Berlin. They said negotiations will be undertaken only with a united Western front.

81 Rescued From Alpine Cable Car

BY MICHAEL GOLDSMITH

CHAMONIX, France (AP) — Rescuers today completed removal of 81 sightseers who spent hours of terror in tiny cable cars stalled high above an Alpine glacier by a freak accident that killed six others.

"We've had an awful time and we're glad it's over," was the comment of a Briton numbed by a night of little rest and freezing cold on the slopes of Mont Blanc.

Helicopters ferried the last survivors back to the warmth of their Chamonix hotels.

Some of them had spent nearly 20 hours suspended hundreds of feet in the air while workers slowly wound in the broken traction cable.

The cable was snapped at 1:10 p.m. Tuesday by a French air force jet combat plane flying low through the valley between Mont Blanc and Aiguille du Midi.

Most of the passengers seemed too fatigued by the experience to have much to say, other than that they were glad to get back alive. A German family of four and an Italian man and his son were killed when their cabins fell hundreds of feet after the traction cable was snapped.

They were the only casualties among the 87 persons on the cableway. Raymond Jacquet, prefect of the Haute Savoie Department, said it was a miracle more people were not killed.

"This testifies to the effectiveness of the safety measures on this spectacular cable railway linking France with Italy across the highest Alpine range," he said.

More than 10 Alpine guides, French army mountain troops, police and cableway workers cooperated in the rescue operation.

The lift runs along a three-inch thick traction cable strung for more than three miles from the Aiguille du Midi to the French-Italian border.

The cutting of the tow cable sent three cars spinning down the steep incline of one section of the support cable. At a way station at the foot of the incline the three cars jumped the cable and plunged 700 feet to the glacier below, killing a German family of four in one car and an Italian father and son in another. The third car was empty.

More than 25 other cable cars were left hanging high above the Alps. A winch was hurried into place and Alpine rescuers inched their way out on the support cable to attach cables to pull the cars to safety. Through the night the cars were slowly pulled to the line's terminals or to points from which Alpinists could lower the occupants by ropes to the glacier.

The pilot of the plane, a Capt. Ziegler of a French experimental jet squadron, landed his damaged F4U jet at his base at Luxeuil in central France. It was impounded by civil investigators.

The plane zipped over the valley at well above the speed of sound. No one reported actually seeing it cut the traction cable, but one sightseer, Francis Blanchard, a Frenchman with the International Labor Organization at Geneva, said he saw the plane performing acrobatics just before.

Officials were thankful for one circumstance in the bizarre accident. After the three cabins derailed, the loose end of the tow cable entangled in the rollers of the way station tower. This kept several other tourist-loaded cars from being cut loose to roll backward on the downhill side of the tower.

The cable line is strung between two peaks of 15,781-foot Mont Blanc and stretches three miles between the 10,500-foot Aiguille du Midi on the French side of the chasm and the Torino, slightly lower, on the Italian side. It makes a sharp dip at the halfway mark, a rocky outcrop known as the Gros Rognon (Big Kidney).

Tourists normally do the ride in half an hour, dangling at times 1,000 feet above the glacier. At eight points along the way there are stopping points where they can get out.

On this trip some of the tourists spent 20 hours in the tiny cabins. Most were dressed in summer clothes. One passenger, an Indian woman from London, had on a thin sari and gold slippers. Some one loaned her a pair of wool socks to negotiate the glacier after she was lowered from her stranded car.

Most of the sightseers were French, Italian or British, but there were a few Americans. Hugh Putnam, 20, of Milton, Mass., and his cousin, Katherine Blodgett, 19, of Grand Rapids, Mich., were stranded for 15 hours. They got down via a rope and took their ordeal cheerfully.

"I was terrified at first," said Miss Blodgett, "but then I quickly relaxed. We had an American newspaper with us and spent part of the time doing the crossword puzzle. I must confess that when darkness fell the puzzle was still incomplete."

It was a beautiful moonlit night on the mountain and the trapped passengers had a spectacular view of the summit of Mont Blanc the Alp's highest mountain, and the glacier below.

Cryogenics is the branch of science dealing with extreme cold. Cryogenists have created laboratory temperatures only a thousandth of a degree short of 459.2 degrees Fahrenheit, or absolute zero.

No Violence as Atlanta Integrates

ATLANTA (AP) — Nine Negro pupils strolled into classes in previously white Atlanta schools today and watchful police nipped quickly any hint of trouble.

This traditional school segregation barriers — in force in Georgia and Atlanta for 10 years — tumbled, reluctantly perhaps, but quietly. Total public school segregation now remains in only three Deep South states — Alabama, Mississippi and South Carolina.

At the first indication of any trouble at the four high schools being desegregated under federal court orders, police dispersed small knots of spectators and whisked to police headquarters several persons who gave them arguments.

An hour before classes began, police at Murphy High School confiscated two signs urging a boycott of the schools. A man posting a boycott sign in a yard nearby was ordered to remove it or be taken into custody. The sign came down.

City officials and police had made elaborate plans to prevent disorder and the opening day started quietly. A long campaign by civic groups, city officials, educators and religious leaders for a peaceful transition, paved the way for the change.

School integration was the signal for merchants to desegregate downtown lunch counters under an agreement reached months ago.

The Atlanta school system has 69,000 white pupils and 48,000 Negroes. Segregation remained in effect at 13 white high schools, five Negro high schools, 73 white elementary schools and 41 Negro elementary schools.

A man who identified himself as Bill Cody of Arlington, Va., was taken into custody at Grady High School 10 minutes after the Negro pupils entered the building. Cody told a police officer, "I want to picket, and I am going to picket."

Within minutes after two Negro girls entered Murphy High, police moved back small groups of young white men who approached the school from both sides. Three who were reluctant to move back were taken to police headquarters when they refused to give their names.

At Brown High, two men were taken into custody by officers but were not detained. They told police they were just spectators. Police at Brown made another man carrying a camera move on because he did not have a press pass.

Officers at Northside High stopped two men for loitering but they turned out to be FBI agents. Last-minute efforts of race extremists to stir up resistance to Georgia's first public school desegregation apparently had little effect and registration proceeded

Sale of Spa Radio Station Authorized

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Sale of bankrupt Hot Springs radio station KBLO to George T. Hearnreich of Fort Smith, was authorized today by Lee Cazort, the federal referee in bankruptcy.

At the same time Cazort signed an order setting aside a previous sale to Tedesco, Inc., of St. Paul, Minn., last November.

Hearnreich offered $18,025 for the station plus a guarantee that he would absorb all operating losses from Aug. 24 until he gets from the Federal Communications Commission approval to take over the station. He posted a $5,000 bond in connection with possible losses.

An offer of $17,550 was received from Mr. and Mrs. O. C. Reeves and Miss June Woosley of Texarkana.

Cazort withheld a ruling on whether trustee Stanley Morris of Hot Springs should collect approximately $12,000 from Tedesco for losses he said were suffered because Tedesco didn't comply with terms of the former sale. This phase included an assertion of negligence in not getting the FCC permit transferred.

If Cazort should hold that Morris is entitled to the $12,000 for benefit of KBLO, the amount would be deducted from $17,000 KBLO paid. The remainder would be returned to Tedesco.

Ex-Arkansan Dies in Wreck

NEW ORLEANS, La. (AP) — Mrs. Delona Bogan, 45, of New Orleans, a former Arkansas resident, was killed Tuesday when the car in which she was riding collided with a truck here. Officers said the driver of the car was Mrs. Betty Garrett, 34, of Houston, Tex., and said she and Mrs. Bogan, with their husbands, lived at a motel here. The Orleans Parish coroners office was unable to say where in Arkansas Mrs. Bogan lived before coming here.

normally Tuesday, said Deputy School Supt. Rual W. Stephens.

Police security measures at Brown, Murphy, Grady and Northside high schools were put into effect after pickets appeared briefly at Atlanta City Hall and one of the schools.

An organization calling itself Youth for Educational Segregation joined the attempt to promote resistance, issuing handbills calling for a boycott of the desegregated schools, soliciting funds and urging formation of private schools.

Police Chief Herbert Jenkins said a Ku Klux Klan splinter group distributed literature with the names, pictures and telephone numbers of the nine Negro transfer students.

Williams Is Slugged in S. Rhodesia

SALISBURY, Southern Rhodesia (AP)—Officials of the Rhodesian Federation and Northern Rhodesia apologized today for the punch in the face a white settler gave U.S. Assistant Secretary of State G. Mennen Williams at Lusaka airport.

Sir Roy Welles the prime minister of the Rhodesian Federation, asked U.S. Consul John Emmerson to convey his "deep personal regret for this deplorable incident to Mr. Williams."

Similar regret was expressed to U.S. consular authorities in Lusaka, the capital of Northern Rhodesia, but Sir Evelyn Hone, the territorial governor, who witnessed the assault and helped subdue the assailant.

Lusaka Mayor Richard Sampson, who also witnessed the incident Monday night, termed it "disgraceful and the most shameful thing that could have happened in our city."

Sampson said the assailant was a "well known Lusaka resident and definitely seemed to be under the influence of drink."

The mayor gave this account: "While I was standing with Mr. Williams and his party on the airport apron, the man came up to us, went straight to Mr. Williams, grabbed his lapel with one hand and shouting an offensive remark hit him straight on the jaw."

"The man was tackled by Sir Evelyn Hone and his aid de camp who were standing next to Mr. Williams. The man was then handed over to the police."

Another witness said the husky, 6-foot American "recoiled after the punch but stood his ground."

(Williams, who had been making an African tour, arrived in Frankfurt, Germany, today en route to Washington and brushed off the attack as "an incident hardly worth mentioning." He showed no sign of any injury.)

Authorities in Lusaka said they were still investigating the incident, refused to give the attacker's name and did not indicate whether he would be prosecuted.

Ann Wollerman Circle Meets

The Ann Wollerman Circle of the First Baptist Church met on Tuesday evening in Fellowship Hall for the Royal Service Program. Mrs. Horace Fuller led in prayer for those missionaries having birthdays on that date. Mrs. M. S. Bates presented the program "Forensic on the Sunbeam Band" with Mrs. Jewell Moore and the Sunbeams taking part. A short business meeting was presided over by Mrs. Harold Brenits. There were 11 members of the night circles that attended the District Association meeting at Magnolia on Aug. 10. Mrs. Bates closed the meeting with prayer.

Rehearsal Dinner

Mr. and Mrs. Robert E. Walter of Abilene, Texas, entertained the Wright-Walter wedding party with a rehearsal dinner in the Rose Room of the Diamond on Sunday night, Aug. 27. The bride-elect, wearing a dark green chiffon dinner dress with matching accessories, pinned a corsage of fleur d'amour at her shoulder.

In the center of the table a large wedding bell was filled with yellow roses and white baby mums. Smaller bells filled with roses and mums were placed on the white satin streamer which graced the table. Covers were laid for 36. The couple chose this time to present gifts to their attendants.

Tuesday Bridge Club

A local Tuesday Bridge Club met with Mrs. H. C. Whitworth on Aug. 29 with two tables of members enjoying the play in a setting enhanced by arrangements of crepe myrtle and clematis. Winning high score prize was Mrs. Dewey Camp and the game prize went to Mrs. Tom Wardlaw. Ice cream and cake were served during the refreshment hour.

Six-Year Old a Rock Thrower

By HELEN WORDEN ERSKINE

Dear Helen: Our 6-year-old son is at the rock throwing stage. His father has reprimanded him three times for this and, because the boy was scared of a whipping, he lied.

Last night he threw gravel rock at three older boys who were baiting him. At first he denied this, but when I told him to answer truthfully, he admitted hitting the boys with a rock. As punishment I sent him to bed directly after dinner.

His father, though a good man, has no regard for my judgment in the rearing of our two children. He told our son he was through with him for keeps. This hurt me, as well as the little boy who now has the idea that his father no longer loves him.

My husband insists the child is a pathological liar, which is completely ridiculous. As a result, he is pushing the boy closer to me. We are young; he 27. I in my early twenties. I worry, for my husband needs the joy of growing up with our son. How can we jointly work out a suitable punishment for the rock-throwing without making the little boy feel not wanted?—A Mother

Dear Mother: Punishment of any sort is futile unless the child understands the why and the wherefore. Your little boy evidently throws rocks out of fear.

Obviously he cannot understand why he should be disciplined for defending himself, since he repeats the "crime." The whippings and his father gives him must hurt. As a consequence, he lies out of fear. This doesn't make him a congenital liar. The real culprits are the older boys. Have a heart-to-heart talk with their parents. See to it that they and your son meet on a friendly basis in his home. Ask them to be his "Big Brothers." Make it clear to him that this is what they are.

Of course, I'm presupposing they are decent kids, not hoodlums. If the latter, report them to the police. I am opposed to whipping children. Any individual—even a little six-year old boy, should be respected as a human being. If his father persists in the whippings, he will grow up to be like the bullies who bait him. Parents and children should be companions. You and your husband will find the rearing of your son far easier if you start with this promise and—of equal importance agree upon whatever discipline is required.

It is also vital that you be consistent. Children have logical minds. Explain all this to your husband and ask him to read the chapter on "How To Be A Parent" in "The Complete Life" by John Erskine. You'll find the book in the local library.

Dear Helen: I have a boy friend who drops in often to play my radio and dance. I like sports. Bowling is my favorite, but all he thinks of is that stupid radio and dancing. Sports, he says, are for kids, music and dancing for grown-ups. What to do?—V.

Dear V.: You'll never make the boy over. If you like him well enough to put up with his radio-playing and dancing, say nothing. If you don't, either demand that he break the monotony by bowling on alternate dates or—chuck him.

Confidential to B. B. Carhon, Ind.: The boy should apologize, turn down the date with his friend. Send a stamped, self-addressed envelope for my leaflet "Teen-Age Code."

Send your problems to Helen Worden Erskine. Be sure to enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope and address her care of this newspaper. Helpful leaflets available.

Man Drowned in the Caddo River

ARKADELPHIA, Ark. (AP) — John Thomas Smith, 36, of Chicago, drowned Monday in the Caddo River near Amity. He got into trouble while swimming and went under in seven feet of water. The body was recovered. Smith and his family were visiting relatives at Amity.

Bar Keepers Warned

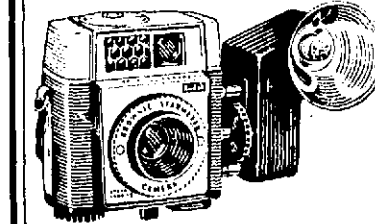

CARDIFF, Wales (AP) — More than 5,000 bar keepers in Wales were warned today they may be breaking the law if they hand out one on the house for the next six weeks.

The reason: An election will be held in six weeks to decide whether bars in Wales should open on Sundays.

Until then, publicans were warned, treating a customer to a free drink could be held to be an attempt to influence the vote and thus an infringement of the Corrupt Practices Act.

At present all bars are closed on Sundays in Wales.

Cooper Studio Photo, Magnolia Mr. and Mrs. Charles Flowers

Miss Ann Jeter, daughter of Mrs. Otto Black of Magnolia, and Charles Flowers, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. V. Flowers of Hope, pledged marriage vows Wednesday, Aug. 9 in a candlelight ceremony at College View Baptist Church in Magnolia with Rev. Kenneth Bobo officiating.

The altar was decorated with white gladiolus in baskets trimmed with white satin roping which draped to the English ivy entwined seven branched candelabra. The pews were decorated with sprays of English ivy and white satin ribbon.

The nuptial music was provided by Miss Floy Leslie who sang "Because" and "I Love You Truly," and Miss Maude Crumpler was her accompanist. The bride, given in marriage by her step-father, Otto Black, wore a waltz length gown of peau de soie and Alencon lace fashioned with a Sabrina neckline and long sleeves which came to points at the wrists. Her crushed cummerbund had a bow detail and her veil of illusion was held by a bridal crown. She carried a bouquet of white carnations with trailing English ivy.

Miss Sarah Shinn, the bride's only attendant, wore a white dotted Swiss dress trimmed in pink. At the bodice of the dress were tiny forget-me-nots and the front of the skirt was trimmed with three large ruffles edged in pink. For her headpiece she wore a dainty creation of pink net and roses. Her flowers were a bouquet of pink mums with trailing English ivy.

The brides' mother wore for the occasion a pastel blue summer sheath with matching accessories. Her corsage was pink carnations. The groom's mother, wore a pastel green, summer sheath with matching accessories and a corsage of pink carnations.

Gilbert Brown of Hope and a student at West Point Military Academy was best man. Ushers were Jackie Bradford and Bobby Simms, students at Southern State College.

Following the wedding the couple left for a short wedding trip to Petit Jean Mountains. For travel the bride wore a white cotton frock with black patent accessories. On her shoulder was pinned a white carnation corsage.

This couple is now residing at apartment 31 at Southern State College where both are students.

Arising Early May Be One Solution

By BOB THOMAS AP Movie-TV Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Feeling hurried, hurried and harassed? Dr. Rosalind Russell has the solution.

It's astonishingly simple: get up a half-hour early in the morning.

This prescription came out as I was trying to plumb the dynamo that is Russell. At an age when many women are content to rattle knitting needles, she maintains a bone-crushing schedule.

This year she is hurrying through three diverse and difficult film roles: in "Majority One," "Five Finger Exercise" and "Gypsy." She plays a Jewish matron, a five-letter female and a voracious stage mother, respectively, and she'll have to dance and belt songs as the latter.

She still manages to maintain civic work, a writing career and a severe household for husband Freddie Brissson and their son Lance, 18.

How does she do it?

"By rising a half-hour before I normally would," she explained. "You'd be surprised what a difference that makes. The morning is a peaceful time, and you have a chance to think over your whole day. You can have a relaxed and stable breakfast, which is very important for getting you through the day."

"You don't miss that extra half-hour of sleep. Sleep is highly overrated. I used to worry because I would lie awake at night. I told my doctor and he said, 'Several million other people are lying awake at the same time.' He told me to get up and sort the linen or straighten out a drawer or do some other useful but dull task, then go back to bed. I tried

Major to Tell History of Reds

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Maj. Calvin L. Collier of the Little Rock Air Force Base will speak here Sept. 5 on the history of communism—a talk he once canceled. Gov. Orval E. Faubus said last week and again Monday that an unidentified Air Base major had canceled a speech on communism to the Pulaski County Medical Society because of the controversy over military participation in political affairs.

It developed later that the officer was Collier, a historian and author. He said he once called off the speech but later had agreed to deliver it after clearance had been given by Strategic-Air Command headquarters.

Olsego Lake, near Cooperstown, N. Y., she "Glimmerglass" of James Fenimore Cooper's famed Indian stories.

It, and it works."

Roz has another regiment to keep life in the proper proportion. That's a quiet hour at the end of the day. She and Freddie sit down for cocktails and conversation. There are no interruptions and no shop talk, even though he is her producer on her current "Five Finger Exercise."

"We don't talk movie business unless it is something funny," she said. "Mostly we talk about people."

With Bomb, Russia Seems Less Reckless

By JAMES MARLOW Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP)—Believe it or not the Soviets—while the hydrogen bomb, and so could can Russian relations like an undertaker's sign—have been less reckless since they developed their bomb than they were with out it.

It is one of the freaks of history that the Russians—when they had no atomic weapon at all and the United States had a monopoly on it—pushed their luck the hardest.

Stalin was either wilder than Premier Khrushchev or decided to grab what he could—ready to drop it if the adventure got too dangerous—in the belief the United States, for humanitarian reasons or fear of world opinion, wouldn't use the bomb.

Since both powers now have the hydrogen bomb, and so could eliminate each other if war be gained, it makes necessary sense for both to be a little more careful about beginning a caper that might begin a war.

Even so Khrushchev is more subtle and imaginative than Stalin anyway.

But just because the hydrogen bomb is so broadly fatal it's a neat device for either side to try to bulldoze the other—blackmail is a better word—into making concessions through fear that not to do so might mean war.

This is what Khrushchev is being accused of now in sealing off East Berlin and his expressed determination to break the West's grip on West Berlin.

But the way he's trying to do it—so different from Stalin's sudden and brutal attempt to block the entire city in 1948—is a good measure of the difference between the two men, and the influential presence of the bomb.

It's not their intentions that are different. It's their technique.

In the first few years after the war, when the United States alone had the atomic bomb, Russia under Stalin grabbed and held the East European countries, today's satellites. It pressured Iran, Turkey and Greece. President Truman didn't force Stalin to disgorge the satellites but he did make him back off Iran, Greece and Turkey.

In 1948, when Russia was near completion of its own atomic bomb but still didn't have it, Stalin tried his most daring and dangerous grab up to that time: the Berlin blockade. Truman broke that by mid 1949 with the airlift.

Stalin could have tried to smash the airlift — by shooting down American planes. But he stopped just short of that since it could have meant war in which the United States might have felt justified in using the bomb.

It was a few months later in that year of the broken blockade — on Sept. 23, 1949—that the Russians had their first atomic explosion. This made the two powers more equal but not quite.

The United States already had a big bomb supply and a big bomber fleet. Stalin was just beginning on his. Still, he was on his way.

Later that year the Red Chinese took over the China mainland. Not long afterwards—by mid 1950—the greatest of all postwar Communist adventures began: the Korean War.

Stalin guessed wrong again. Truman put troops into Korea to stop the North Korean invasion. But Korea was remote from Russia. Stalin could safely bet the United States wouldn't use the bomb on the Koreans. Stalin had nothing to lose.

It was during the Korean War — Nov. 1, 1952—that the United States exploded its first hydrogen device at Bikini. It wasn't until a few months after Stalin's death — Aug. 21, 1953—that the Russians exploded theirs.

Since then his successors have been no less ambitious but much more cautious. They've encouraged Communist guerrilla fighting in Southeast Asia—still a long way from Russia—where the United States wouldn't use the bomb.

This is cheap and comparatively safe adventure for both the Russian and Chinese Communists. If they loose, Russia and Red China can try their luck later.

The only thing Khrushchev has done that could be considered a match for the recklessness of Stalin is his announced determination now to break the West's grip on West Berlin. But he's not talking showdown, he's talking negotiation.

Meanwhile he's trying to spread Russian power and influence—by propaganda and aid to backward countries—in a way which Stalin didn't think of or considered to slow or to worthless.

Survives 10 Days in Wilds of Alaska

FAIRBANKS, Alaska (AP)—"I prepared to die," William C. Waters said today as he described the harrowing 10 weeks he spent lost in the Alaska wilds. Rescue came just as he thought the last hope had gone.

Waters, 42, virtually given up for dead, was recovering in a hospital where he told of walking until he fell and being pawed by a bear cub as he lay half conscious.

The story of survival that amazed even Alaskans used to wilderness hardships was told as Waters slowly began to recover strength after an ordeal that cut his 190 pound weight almost in half.

Waters, a Cincinnati postal employee from Erlanger, Ky., was on a long planned Alaska vacation trip when he left his automobile and hiked to Big Lake, 120 miles northeast of here, to fish.

"After an hour at the lake," said Waters, "I figured there must be a creek off in the foot hills and set out for it, but I never found one. I turned to go back and started following a stream, thinking it would take me back to the road."

It didn't. Waters wandered even farther from civilization.

That was June 20. What happened after the first few days, Waters recalled hazily.

"For the first three or four days," he said, "I heard airplanes but I didn't think I was lost. Every day would get worse. My feet became sore and swollen. I was afraid to take my shoes off for fear I couldn't get them on again."

At first it was hot and mosquitoes were bad. Then it rained 2 1/2 days and turned cold.

"At one time I was lying exhausted on my back with my face covered and my feet crossed," said Waters. "Some thing was turning my feet over and over. I would put them back and something would turn them over again. I pulled my coat off my head and there was a little cub. Two larger bears were there but ran off."

Last Friday as Waters lay near a stream he heard a boat come down the river and then return. Too weak to move, he felt this was the end. The next day the boat returned and this time Waters dragged himself to the bank. Two moose hunters from Fairbanks rescued him.

Waters said he kept alive by eating wild cranberries, raspberries and rosehips—the pods of wild roses gone to seed.

"As the season ended and the berries started to go," he said, "I figured I'd go too."

Waters, a bachelor, is a hunting and fishing enthusiast who served in the Army Air Corps from 1940 to 1946. His parents are dead. Two brothers and a sister live in Ohio.

May Be TV Year of the Trained Beast

By CYNTHIA LOWRY AP TVRadio Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—TV Westerns became adult, it is now apparent, when the cowboy heroes started riding anonymous horses and turned "Old Paint," "Tony" and "Champ" into pasture. But the wheel turns and the lovable actor is back again, stronger than ever this season.

The fall schedules are so loaded with animals that this season may go into television history as "the year of the trained beast."

There are so many animals and their trainers around the studios that they make human actors nervous about their careers and employment prospects.

"Lassie," as usual, will be back saving lives and performing other good work. "National Velvet," with a horse in the title role, will also be among us for another season. Ed Sullivan, of course, would not think of producing a Sunday night show without at least one trained animal act.

That's just the beginning. Among the new network shows is CBS' "Mr. Ed," a horse and the first talking beast since Cleo, the chatty beagle of "The People's Choice."

Pascual Licks High Flying Yanks 3-0

By ED WILKS
Associated Press Sports Writer

Right-hander Camilo Pascual gained his 12th victory and sixth shutout by checking New York on four singles as Minnesota beat the American League leading Yankees 3-0 Tuesday night.

It was only the third victory over New York in 16 games for the Twins—and all three have been shutouts, two by Pascual. He tied Baltimore's Steve Barber for the major league shutout lead with this one and replaced Yankee Whitey Ford as the AL strikeout leader by fanning nine, three times putting a called third strike past Mickey Mantle.

Despite the defeat, the Yankees retained a 1½ game edge over Detroit as the Chicago White Sox ended the second place Tigers' winning streak at five, 4-3. The Los Angeles Angels swept a pair of 6-5 decisions from Baltimore, taking the second in 11 innings. Cleveland defeated Washington 6-4 and Boston beat Kansas City 8-4.

In the National League, Cincinnati won 3-0 at Pittsburgh and stayed 3½ games ahead of the second-place Los Angeles Dodgers, who won 2-1 at Chicago. Milwaukee beat San Francisco 7-6 in 13 innings. St. Louis won 5-4 in the first game at Philadelphia, then lost the night cap 4-3.

Pascual, who became a first-time poppa earlier in the day, put away his fifth career shutout over the Yankees with a flourish. He struck out Bobby Richardson and Tony Kubek in the ninth, but Roger Maris was safe on a two-base error. Pascual then fanned Mantle for the final out. That extended his shutout streak through 20 innings and gave him 179 strikeouts.

Mantle was 1-for-4 and his 46th home run total leaves him just one game ahead of Babe Ruth's record 60 pace in 1927. Maris, 6-for-3, is eight games ahead of Ruth with his 51.

Ralph Terry (11-2) was the loser, after winning six in a row. An unearned run in the third, on Lenny Green's single, and error and Billy Martin's sacrifice fly, ended Terry's shutout string at 24 1-3 innings. Earl Battey's two-run double wrapped it up in the sixth.

The Tigers, who had won 10 of 11, blew a 2-0 lead and then booted the game behind Frank Lary (49-7) when the White Sox broke a 3-3 tie in the seventh on a single by winning right-hander Ray Herbert (9-12) and two errors. The telling error was by Chico Fernandez, who had batted in two Detroit runs. Rocky Colavito of the Tigers went without an RBI for the first time in 10 games, falling one shy of the AL record.

Jim Gentile belted his 41st and 42nd home runs for the Orioles in the opener, but the Angels took it on a squeeze bunt by winner Ryno Duren (6-11) in the sixth inning. Home runs by Joe Koppe and Steve Bilko then brought the Angels from behind in the 11th inning of the second game and gave the victory to Eli Grba (8-11) in relief. Barber (15-10) and Billy Hoelt (4-4) were the losing pitchers.

The Indians came from behind at Washington with six runs in the seventh, five unearned. Bob Allen (3-0) was the winner and Mike Garcia (0-1) the loser, both in relief.

The Red Sox also won with a six-run rally, overhauling the A's and beating Ed Rakow (2-6) on Frank Malzone's two-out, two-run single in the ninth. Chet Nichols (3-2) was the winner in relief.

BOWED DOWN—Pete Runnels went to a knee to avoid being tagged by Elston Howard of the New York Yankees before sliding safely home at Fenway Park. The Boston first baseman scored from second base on Chuck Schilling's single to right field, beating throw.

Redlegs Keep Lead With Win Over Pirates

By ED WILKS
Associated Press Sports Writer

There was no pennant fever among the Cincinnati Reds or their fans in early season, but things weren't so black that Manager Fred Hutchinson was without hope.

"We could do all right," said Hutch, "if we could get some pitching. We need it, because we don't score many runs."

That will give you some idea of just how much of a surprise team the Reds are in that National League race. Not only are they second in run totals—610 to San Francisco's 637—but the pitching staff leads the league in shutouts.

With southpaw Jim O'Toole and reliever Jim Maloney combining for Cincinnati's 10th whitewash job of the season, the Reds knocked off Pittsburgh 3-0 Tuesday night and retained a 3½-game lead over second-place Los Angeles. The Dodgers stayed close with a 2-1 victory at Chicago as Sandy Koufax limited the Cubs to a pair of singles.

Milwaukee replaced San Francisco in third place, seven games behind, by beating the Giants 7-6 in 13 innings on Ed Mathews' home run. St. Louis made it

SW Seminar on Management

HOT SPRINGS, Ark. (AP)—Scientists and politicians from Arkansas and the nation initiate the Southwest Seminar on Management and Uses of Nuclear Energy today.

Gov. Orval E. Faubus, Winthrop Rockefeller and members of the legislature will take part in the opening ceremonies at Oaklawn Park, where space age exhibits opened Saturday.

With them will be Dr. Leland J. Haworth of the Atomic Energy Commission and Dr. Werner von Braun, one of the nation's top scientists and rockets.

Panel discussions and talks begin Wednesday. The conference ends Thursday. About 600 scientists, businessmen, educators and industrialists from five states are expected to begin registering today.

Von Braun will speak Thursday night. Dr. Edward L. Teller, called the father of the hydrogen bomb, will speak at noon Thursday.

Cholera in China

HONG KONG (AP)—Five new cholera cases were reported in Hong Kong today, bringing the total number of confirmed cases to 84. The death toll remained at 10.

eight in a row with a 5-4 victory at Philadelphia in the opener of a two-night pair, but the Phils took the nightcap 4-3.

In the American League, New York was shut out on four singles by Camilo Pascual and lost 3-0 at Minnesota, but the Yankees retained a 1½-game edge when the Chicago White Sox beat second-place Detroit 4-3. Los Angeles swept a two-night doubleheader from Baltimore by 6-5 scores, with the second game going 11 innings. Cleveland defeated Washington 6-4 and Boston beat Kansas City 8-4.

The Reds won their third in a row with a sixth-inning run at Pittsburgh on singles by Vada Pinson, Jerry Lynch and Gordy Coleman off right-hander Bob Friend (12-17).

Maloney nailed it for O'Toole (13-9), who gave up all of the Bucs' six hits, by striking out pinch-hitter Rocky Nelson with the bases loaded in the ninth.

Koufax (15-9), who leads NL pitchers in low-hit games with a pair of two-hitters and a couple of three-hit performances, held the Cubs hitless for 6 2-3 innings for the second time this season. Sandy struck out 12, for a season total of 212, tops in the majors.

The Dodgers scored the winning run in the top of the seventh on a walk, sacrifice and Frank Howard's single off Don Cardwell (11-12).

Mathews' 26th home run came with one out in the bottom of the 13th for the Braves—their only hit against loser Dick LeMay (2-5) in his five innings of relief.

Travelers Capture 2nd Game

By ROSS M. HAGEN
Associated Press Sports Writer

Birmingham and Chattanooga appear to be marking time in their down-to-the-wire battle for the Southern Association baseball pennant.

In fact, the upper half of the league failed to move off of dead center Tuesday night although each team played two games.

The reason, of course, is that they all split doubleheaders—Birmingham whipped Atlanta 5-4, but the Crackers came back to win the nightcap 4-3; Chattanooga defeated Little Rock 6-4 only to bow to the Travelers 4-3 in the second game. Shreveport pulled into a sixth place tie with Nashville by bouncing the Vols twice, 8-6 and 8-3. In a single game, cellar-dwelling Mobile derailed Macon 6-1.

Chattanooga found itself in the position today of making up the 1½ game deficit to Birmingham in only seven games.

The Lookouts won their seventh straight game, punching across five runs in the first, inning of their opener against Little Rock. But a solo home run by Little Rock's Vern Grace with the score tied 3-3 doomed the Lookouts' hopes in the nightcap.

Birmingham was handed its conquest of Atlanta by Bart Shirley, Cracker shortstop, who erred to allow the winning run to score. In the second game Sam Hiltcher's two doubles paced an Atlanta attack which broke a five-game losing streak.

Shreveport banged out 24 hits and scored 16 runs in humiliating the Vols twice. The Sports' batting star was Tony Frullo. He smashed a homer and two singles in the first game and three singles in the second.

Mobile's victory over Macon all but ended hopes of the Peaches for a first division finisher. Macon just couldn't solve the offerings of Mobile hurler Glen Stabelfeld who checked the Peaches on six hits. Don Prohovich homered for Mobile.

Bobcats Drag Out Practice on Tuesday

By Vince Foster

The Hope Bobcats had just a mediocre practice yesterday, as they were hampered by wet weather and a shortage of players. Coaches Pierce and Faulkner both voiced disapproval at the small number of boys reporting for practice.

The Cats began working on defense yesterday. They ran their wing "T" against various defenses, including the tricky stunting-type defense.

Coach Faulkner reported, "The boys have been dragging somewhat, but we expect them to pick up now that they are only having one practice a day."

Coach Pierce said the team was weak at the guard and tackle positions, and he expressed hope that more boys will come out. The coaches said this week will wind up conditioning work and the team will start getting ready for their games next week.

The coaching staff is presently enjoying the services of Robert Bell, who has volunteered his help in coaching while he is on vacation. Mr. Bell played end with Coach Faulkner in high school, and then went on to play for Trinity College in San Antonio. Also assisting the Bobcats this year is Ed White, who is helping out as trainer.

Ralston Back in Lawn Tennis Grace

By ED CORRIGAN
Associated Press Sports Writer

FOREST HILLS, N.Y. (AP)—Dennis Ralston, one of the main hopes to bring the elusive Davis Cup back to the United States, was back in the United States Lawn Tennis Association's doghouse today.

And there appeared to be a division of opinion on just how long he'll stay in the kennel.

The 19-year-old Bakersfield, Calif., ace, Tuesday was suspended by the USLTA for "bad conduct." The immediate result was that he became ineligible for the national championships starting here on Friday.

George Barnes, president of the USLTA, issued a formal statement pinpointing Ralston's antics in the American one final against Mexico in Cleveland two weeks ago as the primary cause of the suspension. Ralston already had been placed on a year's probation for acting up in Australia last year.

Significantly, however, Barnes did not place any time limit on the suspension. This led some observers to believe that when Ralston is hailed in for a full hearing on Sept. 8, his banishment from the nationals may be considered sufficient punishment.

"After all," said one top official, "getting to the challenge round means about $25,000 to the USLTA. If Ralston is needed to help us get there, I can't see them making the suspension stick."

Barnes' statement did not mention the specific violations as charged to Ralston, the nation's No. 3 ranked player.
